The Gall for President - by Poetbroker

The glowing oval clings to bough.
Clings to the visual notion of fruit born from oak.

How shiny globe leaves leafs of green and twirling brown branches in the shadows of the tree's bosom!

In awe are we of glowing gall,
thinking "This is the pride of mighty oak's labor."

But it is not. It's the nest of a wasp.

"Poetbroker" is the pen name of Ed Rosenthal

The former Broadway Trade Center is in the middle of a huge renovation by Waterbridge Capital to convert the 108 year old building into a 1.1 million square foot mixed use development. Modeled after the Chelsea Market in New York, the project will include office space, ground level retail space, a public park, a boutique hotel, a private social club, an olympic sized swimming pool, and more. Although the project won't be completed until 2018, you can still take a photo tour here, via Urbanize LA and Hunter Kerhart.

The Spring Arts Tower now boasts a new mural by renown South African artist Faith47, produced in collaboration with the Historic Core BID, Downtown Art Walk and Branded Arts. The towering work, entitled "Who Will Guard the Guards Themselves" asks how power can be held to account. Check it out along with more neighborhood art on the next Historic Core Art & Architecture tour, coming up August 13th.
